REPORTS

from WASHINGTON

WELL EARNED TRIBUTE—The Marine Corps budget was being considered by the Appropriations Committee last week. As a member of the Department of Defense subcommittee, I participated in the hearings when General R. M. Pate, Commandant of the Marine Corps, and Brig. Gen. J. P. Berkeley, G-1 of the Corps, discussed their plans for next year. While nearly every other agency of our Government is crying and screaming for more money, the Marine Corps asked for $87,420,000 less than they received in 1957. This was a happy change. It goes without saying that the Committee was greatly impressed by their figures.

The Committee was reminded of the great tradition of the Marine Corps. How, since 1798 the Marines have fought on every continent, in every war, and as their famous hymn says, "In the air, on land, and on the sea," how they fought the Barbary pirates on the shores of Tripoli and how they stormed the National Palace

$1,227 in Back Wages Asked

Montgomery — In two actions filed in U. S. Court here, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell seeks both to restrain F. M. Taylor of Luverne, from future violations of the Federal Wage and Hour Law and to recover $1,227.03 in back wages allegedly due two employees because of underpayments.

The complaints allege that Taylor, who operates an iron mine in Crenshaw County, has failed to pay some of his employees at least $1 an hour and time and one-half their regular rates for hours after 40.

In Mexico City and occupied the "Halls of Montezuma," and more recently, how they played such an important part in the war in the Pacific — symbolized by the raising of the flag on the heights of Iwo

RECORD EGG

Babe McCollough, living on Elba, Rt. 1, was exhibiting a mammoth size hen egg Tuesday. It was one of the largest we have ever seen. Mr. McCollough said it was laid by a young White Rock hen that has been laying only a short time. The egg weighed 5 1/2 ounces and measured 7 1/2" long and 4 1/2" wide.

When it is considered that the average large egg weighs 1 3/4 ounces, the magnitude of Mr. McCollough's egg can be appreciated.

Mrs. Mary Olive Purvis and Ed of Montgomery visited her mother, Mrs. J. A. Carney on Friday.

Rev. & Mrs. John Frank Lindsey and little sons of County Line visited relatives here the first of the week.

Up to Recreation Board Now

Last Monday at the council meeting the subject of the swimming pool came up. There is quite a bit of work to be done at the pool before it can be opened. And with school vacation scheduled for the end of May, there isn't a lot of time left.

Usually the pool has to have a coat of paint each spring. This not only improves the appearance but also helps seal the concrete. Then there is the problem of hiring someone to run the pool and the question of a life guard. The council hopes to hear recommendations on all these points when it meets April 15. At that time they have invited the recreation board to meet with them.

Another item that could be added to the agenda in discussing recreation is the Little League Baseball program. Chief of Police "Bow" Dunaway had an amazing turnout of youngsters at his first call last week. About 90 showed up. Compare this with the larger cities in Alabama where out of populations running into the hundreds of thousands about 200 youngsters turn out.

Gov. Folsom Goes to Washington

Several columnists in metropolitan dailies recently have been writing about Gov. James Folsom setting up an office in Washington, D. C. They write along the general theme that up to now the state's senators and representatives have taken care of Alabama's needs in the country's capital.

Maybe so, but let's take a look at the fire ant problem, about which Gov. Folsom went to Washington Thursday of last week. Sen. Sparkman put out a publicity release last week that his fire ant bill had passed the Senate and a similar bill was before the House of Representatives. From reading the release, it was easy to get the impression that help would be on the way in a relatively short period.

However, The Birmingham News carried a story from a spokesman in the Dept. of Agriculture. After reading this, it became apparent that help from the federal government might be as far as away as a year or more. It seems that the bills presently before Congress are "enabling legislation." After it is passed the Dept. of Agriculture will make a study of the problem, suggest a share-the-cost formula which will include federal, state and property owner funds. Only then will the Dept. of Agriculture go before Congress to ask for money to do the job.

In the meantime the fire ants take over additional thousands of acres and cost of the country of them mounts in proportion. That is the action Alabama has received to date from its Washington representatives.

Evidently Gov. Folsom saw that this was not enough and took some of his aids to Washington to try to get help now — not 12 months hence — to fight the fire ant. His presence and very apparent concern with the problem will certainly be a help in "pressuring" the Washington bureaucrats for action.

And we must agree with his comment that if the country can afford $4 billion for foreign aid, it can afford what it takes to eliminate the pesky insect that threatens to take over a big proportion of the South's farm lands.

Keep working on them, Big Jim.

SOLVE - A - CRIME

By A. C. Gordon

You walk into the private study in the lavish home of Louis L. Gable and look down at the body of the well-known industrialist sprawled on the thickly-carpeted floor, near his desk. You stop and carefully pick up the sheet of typewriter paper lying on the floor near the revolver beside the dead man. Holding it up to the light, you note from the watermark that it is of excellent quality, smoothly glazed and uncreased. You read the typewritten message on it: "Dear-east Louis: Things between us just cannot go on any further. There is a big difference between friendship and love. I do not want you for a friend, but so far as marrying you, I cannot do that — simply because I do not love you. In fact, I must confess to you now that there is somebody else. Sincerely, R. C."

Now you turn to the dead man's secretary, Edgar Brown, and ask for his story. "In the first place," he explains, "I cannot figure out why Mr. Gable should have done away with himself this way. He's always been of an unusually cheerful nature, and I opened the afternoon mail as usual, shortly after lunch, and brought it into the study here, along with that letter you just finished examining. I left the house then to go on an errand and was away about an hour. When I returned, I found him like this... dead."

Fire Ant Bill Progresses

WASHINGTON, D. C. — April 4 — Senator John Sparkman (D-Ala.) summarized today progress of four farm bills he is sponsoring in the Senate. He said the fire ant elimination bill had passed the Senate and gone to the House. A similar bill has been reported favorably by the House Agriculture Subcommittee.

A bill sponsored by Senator Sparkman and a number of other senators to provide for compulsory inspection of poultry and poultry products is ready for Senate floor action.

Another Sparkman-sponsored bill to provide more liberalities is now under study at the Department of Agriculture, according to Sen. Sparkman. He said the Senate Agriculture committee would take action on the bill as soon as the Dept. of Agriculture makes its report.

This farm credit bill would provide auxiliary credit resources needed to preserve the family — size farm. Senator Sparkman stated, explaining that the bill would provide additional credit to enlarge and develop these smaller farms. Other provisions of the farm credit bill include refinancing existing indebtedness; expansion and simplification of farm ownership and operations; credit programs; and extension and simplification of emergency and disaster farm credit.

A fourth Sparkman bill, aimed at the use of farm credit so under study by the Department of Agriculture, would provide for scientific study and research to develop increased and new industrial uses of farm crops.

"Since no program has been developed and no one can foresee a program to successfully shrink farm production for any length of time this bill looks to research programs to increase considerably the industrial uses of farm products," Sen. Sparkman declared. "I am convinced that this bill, if enacted, could eventually go a long way toward solving many of the complex issues now contributing to our farm depression."

Electric's the Way - Which Shall I Get NEXT?

If your refrigerator is too small and doesn't have the quick-freeze and frozen food storage compartments, your first choice may be an electric refrigerator. For farm homes, a home freezer (farm size) should be an early choice because then fruits, vegetables, fowl and meat can be preserved in quantity with all of their freshness.

An early choice should be an electric range. If you are like most women who switch to electric cooking you'll say, "I wish I'd started sooner."

The new high speed electric water heater of adequate size provides an ample supply of hot water always. Completely automatic, you install it and forget it.

Even if you like to wash and dry dishes by hand (but who does?) an electric dishwasher will be near the top of your list. It does the job better than human hands and is a time and labor saver. Dishes washed in an electric dishwasher dry themselves.

With electrical equipment, the laundry can be done whenever time permits. Economical to operate, electric washing machines and electric dryers eliminate a lot of drudgery and make it possible for you always to have clean linens.

Electrify your home step-by-step, or all at once. Pay for the new equipment you choose on the convenient terms offered by your electrical appliance dealer or us.

LONG TIME BETWEEN

I asked Jordan Lindsey Sunday if he had been fishing lately. He said he hadn't been fishing since Saturday afternoon. He stated he went to a private pond where he and his companion caught 45 broom but they were not too large.

TOP SOIL LOST

The tons of fertile top soil washed away by last week's heavy rains were a serious matter to farmers in this area. From observation I am convinced that there are at least two ways to reduce such loss: plant winter cover crops and construct parallel terraces. Both have demonstrated their effectiveness in no uncertain fashion. Unprotected plowed fields are an easy prey to the wind and heavy rains.

AROUND THE FLOWING WELL

By Paul E. Cunningham

ALL IS PEACEFUL again at The Clipper now that "Uncle Mac" has visited my wife's flower garden. She has put the ribbon back on his typewriter so "Uncle Mac" didn't miss an issue.

BOB FOLSOM says he wishes the doctors would turn his cook (Mrs. Bob) loose from the hospital. He's missing her home cooking. Mrs. Folsom is in Gibson Hospital with a skin irritation. She will probably have to stay for another week of treatment and observation.

JUST GETTING BACK to normal after the shock of learning he was grandfather to a boy and girl, Mr. Fleming was working in his garden Saturday when a telephone call informed him and Mrs. Fleming that their daughter Claudine Chambers of Brundidge had given birth to a boy and girl.

Mr. Fleming wouldn't take anyone's word that everything was all right. He had to drive to Montgomery himself to see.

THOSE CANS OF lighter fluid you see on the shelf in back of a barber's chair are for more than putting in a cigarette lighter. I found out last Friday, Mrs. Luke English was in watching Broome Parker trim her little boy's hair and the talk shifted to bubble gum and how it has a tendency to get wound up in a cigarette lighter.

CRASH AT KINSTON FATAL

School Bus Driver Killed

He died a short time later. An autopsy was performed by Vann V. Pruitt, a state toxicologist who said death was caused by injuries received in the accident, and not from a heart attack as had been suspected.

Patrolman Fordham estimated damage to the home at at least $1500 and the bus was also heavily damaged.

Fordham also reported the traffic death of James Edward Parker, 24, of Troy, Ala., who died Thursday of injuries sustained Wednesday when his car collided with a bridge abutment on U. S. Highway 231 about nine miles south of Troy.

"Evidently he had a temporary blackout," Fordham

COUNCIL DECIDES MONDAY—

City Limits To Be 'Squared'

Mayor H. C. Taylor was authorized to work with City Attorney Charles Rowe to draw up a new set of proposed city limits for the town when the council met in the mayor's office Monday night.

Tentatively, Mayor Taylor was instructed to get the city attorney to draw up papers putting the city limits on a quarter or section line, thus eliminating all the dips and turns in the present city map.

Mayor Taylor will "square up" the city limits and present them to the council at its next meeting for approval. The proposed boundaries will then be given to Jackson W. Stokes, Coffee County representative in the state legislature. By introducing a local bill he can change the city boundaries.

A more complicated and expensive way to do the same thing is through a referendum in the areas to be incorporated in the city limits.

A request by Buck Harper for $80 for a dog of his that was shot by the police was tabled. A rabies test is being run on the dog's head.
